Moment of GLORY

From the editor's desk -

There is no elevator to success, you have to take the steps. Hard work coupled with the desire to achieve, motivate one to get after a goal. It makes success bigger. Hard work only works as hard as you do, and the level of success reached will only be as high as an individual's work level.

The desire to be independent of British rule was the driving force that drove the freedom struggle.

With dedication and focus students too can achieve the goals they set for themselves. To achieve a bigger goal, you have to set small achievable tasks and move towards bigger achievements... remember you cannot cross a chasm in one go.

Dream big, stay positive, work hard and enjoy the journey.
